

BRYANLGH COLLEGE OF HEALTH SCIENCES
FACULTY RESEARCH

- 2009 Simulation Effectiveness Tool: Measuring simulation effectiveness: A multi-site reliability study. Co-investigators: Kim Leighton, PhD, RN; Jodi Nelson, MSN, RN; Victoria Elfrink, PhD, RN, Ohio State University.
- 2009 Descriptive study of impact of debriefing on effectiveness of learning in the simulated clinical environment. Co-investigators: Kim Leighton, PhD, RN; Jodi Nelson, MSN, RN
- 2009 Assessing Nursing Students' Clinical Judgment Through Simulated Learning; Kim Leighton, PhD, RN, Research Advisor for pilot study conducted by Nursing Education Deans and Directors of South Dakota.
- 2008 Undergraduate Nursing Students' Response to Code Situations following Targeted Instruction, mixed methods research. Co-investigators: Kim Leighton, PhD, RN; Karla Scholl, MSN, RN
- 2007 Undergraduate Nursing Students' Response to Code Situations, mixed methods research. Co-investigators: Kim Leighton, PhD, RN; Karla Scholl, MSN, RN; and Robin Spangler, MSN, RN